Time:

Rounds & Turns:

Rounds are 6 seconds long. You may complete one normal action sequence.

Turns are ten minutes long and are used for exploration and searching.

Movement:

Movement Rules:

- On their turn a combatant may move up to their movement distance and attack any opponent in range. they may not move again until the next round.
- A fighting retreat allows a character to move backwards at ½ their movement with no penalties. However, there must be a clear path for this movement.
- A full retreat occurs when a character flees at a faster rate than ½ of their movement. The character may not attack this round. His opponent gets a free attack with a +2 to hit and advantage to damage. Also, shield bonuses do not apply to the character's armor defense during any part of the retreat.
- Walk: Move up to movement rate.

- Jog: Move twice movement rate. You may jog for your Constitution in Turns.
 Then you gain one level of exhaustion.
 Gain another level of exhaustion at each additional Constitution defense in Turns spent jogging.
- Run: Move three time movement rate.
 You may run for two times your Constitution defense in rounds. Then you gain one level of exhaustion. Gain another level of exhaustion at each additional Constitution defense in rounds spent running.
- Movement per Turn equals Movement times 60.
- When mapping or searching for traps, movement slows to ½ Movement per Turn.

Encumbrance Definition:

When less than ½ of your slots are used, you are considered to be unburdened.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{2}{3}$ of your slots gives you a light load.

More than 2/3 of your slots weighs you down with a heavy load.

Movement per round by Armor & Load:

Animal movement rates are based off comparison to horse values. Reduce animals with a heavy load to foot, heavy rates.

Paved roads are degraded to dirt road values and dirt roads are reduced to trail values in Mountains, Sandy Desert, & Swamp. Trails provide no benefit in Mountains, Sandy Desert, & Swamp.

Forced Marches add ½ to Daily Movement Rates. Save twice daily or gain a level of exhaustion.

Combat Sequence & Initiative:

Surprise:

At the beginning of the encounter, roll a wisdom save to determine if the opposing sides are aware of each other.

- If one side is in a prepared position on guard, they roll with advantage.
- Any group not on alert rolls with disadvantage.
- Stealth and camouflage may grant advantage to the roll as the referee determines.
- Large formations, loud sounds such as signaling trumpets, or bright colorful uniforms may cause disadvantage as the referee determines.

Awareness save results:

- Both sides are aware: Begin the encounter at this range.
- If one side is aware and is able to make melee or missile attacks, they may do so with advantage on the first attack.
- If one side is aware and not able to make melee or missile attacks, or wishes to break contact, they may take an unobserved movement round.
 Afterward another awareness check is made by the unaware side.

Once both sides are aware:

- If one side wishes to break off the engagement, see movement rules.
- If both sides wish break off the engagement, the groups separate.
- If both sides seek conflict, move to combat sequence and initiative.

Order of Battle: Declare and Describe Proposed Actions for the Round

- Missile fire Roll all attacks. Apply damage simultaneously.
- Movement and Melee attacks Roll Initiative and apply in order of highest first.
 - Initiative: Roll 1d6 + any applicable
 Bonuses + Reach Effect Condition.
 - Unburdened adds +2 to initiative and Dexterity rolls. This stacks with no armor bonuses.
 - No armor adds +1 to initiative and Dexterity rolls.

 Cast spells – Highest Sorcery level take effect first. Ties take effect simultaneously.

Reach: Reach rules adapted from David Stark.

Weapon Reach & Effects:

- Weapons with the same reach have no bonuses or penalties when used against each other.
- Reach penalties are applied to shorter weapons initially and until it closes to it's optimal reach.
- Successful attacks and damage do not change reach categories.
- Shorter weapons close at the rate of one reach category for each Dexterity stunt they succeed at.
- A longer weapon knocks (pushes) a shorter weapon back to it's starting reach with one Dexterity stunt.

- Shorter weapons suffer from disadvantage to initiative until they closed to their optimal reach.
- Any time a shorter weapon is at optimal reach over a longer weapon, the longer weapon suffers from disadvantage to initiative until they push the shorter weapon back.
- These rules apply for medium sized creatures. [4'-7' tall] +/- one reach category per size difference or 4', whichever is easiest.

Melee Rolls:

Melee Attacks:

To Hit: Roll 2d10 + Strength Modifier + Reach Effect Condition + Situation Modifiers

Damage: Weapon Damage Die + Class Bonus + Skill/Talent/Ability + Reach Effect Condition + Situation Modifiers Unarmed attacks vs armed opponents are made with disadvantage. This penalty is removed when unarmed martial ability is good at or greater.

Missile Rolls:

Missile Attacks:

To Hit: Roll 2d10 + Wisdom Modifier + Situation Modifiers

Damage: Weapon Damage Die + Class Bonus + Skill/Talent/Ability + Situation Modifiers

Ranged Attacks into melee – roll with disadvantage. On a miss, hit random target on a natural 7 or less.

Cover:

Walls, trees, creatures, and other obstacles can provide cover during combat, making a target more difficult to harm. A target can benefit from cover only when an attack or other effect originates on the opposite side of the cover. There are three degrees of cover. If a target is behind multiple sources of cover, only the most protective degree of cover applies; the degrees aren't added together. For example, if a target is behind a creature that gives half cover and a tree trunk that gives three quarters cover, the target has three quarters cover.

 A target with half cover has a +2 bonus to AD and Dexterity saving throws. A target has half cover if an obstacle blocks at least half of its body. The - obstacle might be a low wall, a large piece of furniture, a narrow tree trunk, or a creature, whether that creature is an enemy or a friend.

- A target with three quarters cover has a +5 bonus to AD and Dexterity saving throws. A target has three quarters cover if about three quarters of it is covered by an obstacle. The obstacle might be a portcullis, an arrow slit, or a thick tree trunk.
- A target with total cover can't be targeted directly by an attack or a spell, although some spells can reach such a target by including it in an area of effect. A target has total cover if it is completely concealed by an obstacle.

Attack Results:

Result Interpretation:

- Equal to or greater than AD hits for damage. A natural 20 always hits if possible.
- Less than AD is a miss or deflected by armor.
- A Special failure is a roll of natural 2 or a failure by 10 or more. The attack always fails and the attacker's weapon loses 1 point of quality. See Special Failure Table.
- On a natural 20 [Natural x/2d10]: Occurs on a hit. Increases are 16 through 20. See perk level for increase rates. So an - expert with ... occurs on a natural roll of 17-20.

- A Special Success is a hit that occurs if you roll a natural 20 or succeed by 10 or more. The target is hit and the defender's armor loses 1 point of quality. See Special Success.
- Each point of quality costs 10-20% of the item's cost to repair. At 0 quality, the item is ruined.

Special Success Effects:

The recipient of the the special success attack:

- Rolls on the Fatal Injury Table. Add +1 per three character levels of the recipient to the roll.
- Adds one to the recipient's Wound
 Penalty for the purposes or rolling on the Fatal Injury Table. These heal 1 hour after the fight in which they were inflicted ends.

 The defender's armor loses 1 point of quality.

Stunt Rules:

Stunts: Adapted from Knave by Ben Milton.

Stunts are combat maneuvers such as shoving, disarming, tripping, sundering armor, and so on.

They generally do not cause damage directly, but may do so indirectly (for example, pushing an enemy off of a ledge). The referee is the final arbiter as to what stunts can be attempted or do damage in a given situation.

Process:

- The attacker declares the combat maneuver being attempted.
- The stunt is resolved with a versus save.
 A Dexterity versus save calls for the attacker to roll 2d10 + Dexterity bonus versus the defender's Dexterity defense.
 The attacker's and the defender's unarmed stunt bonuses are applied as a modifier to their roll.

 On a critical, the stunt occurs with additional effects or causes damage directly.

Here is a list of possible. Feel free to improvise and add to:

- Disarm, grab and pull forward, or close or open reach ranges.
- Force back or push d6 paces [bull rush]:
 Charge the target, who may only be one size larger than you.
- Switch places or slip past opponent.
- Unhorse.
- Grab to grapple: One handed grappling: Attacker rolls with disadvantage.
 Advantage/Disadvantage is applied for significant size differences or significant strength differences.

- Once grabbed, additional successes are needed to apply effects or escape from them:
 - Grapple: A grappled creature's speed becomes 0, and it can't benefit from any bonus to its speed or AD. 1 success.
 - Pin arms, bind weapon, or grab weapon arm.: 1 success
 - Restrained: A restrained creature's speed becomes 0, and it can't benefit from any bonus to its speed. Attack rolls against the creature have advantage, and the creature's attack rolls have disadvantage. The creature has disadvantage on Dexterity saving throws. 2 successes

- Throw to the ground: Foe becomes prone. 1 Success. Away from you: If same size or larger, throw up to d3 paces for 1d6 damage and becomes prone. 2 successes
- Choke: Inflicts one "point" of strangulation, +1 for each 5 points by which the save roll fails. If the target accrues points greater than 2, roll a Constitution save – total strangulation points or fall unconscious. Must be vulnerable to choke.
- Inflict Pain: Foe is rattled for one round +1d6 damage. 1 success
- Get out of a Grapple Effect: Make a Strength save – successes of effect.

Wielding Two Weapons:

When you wield a short weapon in your off hand, pick one of the following options:

- You may use your short weapon as a small shield if this quality is listed in the weapon tables, or
- 2. Attack without the defensive benefit. On a successful attack roll, roll damage dice for both weapons and use the best result.

Defensive Fighting:

Defensive fighting lasts for at least a full round.

Partial Defense: +4 Armor Defense vs melee attacks. Attack normally. On a successful attack, roll damage with disadvantage. Full Defense: May not attack. Melee attacks against you are rolled with disadvantage.

Mounted Combat: Adapted from Robert Conley.

A mounted warrior has greatly enhanced mobility, speed, and strength compared to the foot soldier.

When fighting from horseback the following rules are in effect:

- Gains advantaged on attack rolls to hit any target on foot.
- Any target on foot has disadvantaged when attacking a horseman unless using long weapons.
- When the mounted fighting man moves more than ½ move towards his target, he is considered charging. Apply the following charging characters.
 - Automatically wins initiative. If charging characters are present on both sides, initiative is checked first among those charging followed by everyone else.
 - Gains advantage to his damage on a successful hit on any weapon.
 - If the weapon is a lance, he has the option of doubling the lance's damage. When this option is used the lance has to make a saving throw of 15 or better or it be shattered. Knights and other cavalry elites will do triple damage.

- On a charge, the rider may opt to do a knockdown. The horse will slam into the target instead of a rider's weapon attack. If successful the target is knocked prone and must make his saving throw versus Constitution or be knocked unconscious. Damage is 1d10.
- The horse can attack separately from the mounted fighting man.
 - The horse may not attack if charging, except to make a charging knockdown attack.
 - The horse can only attack a target on foot.
 - If a person on foot attacks the horse on the rider's shield side then the horse gains the rider's shield bonus.
 - If you track rations a horse requires rations equal to that of an individual character. The referee may rule that if the party is in a fertile region with grass then horse requires only half of the rations an individual needs.

Special Failure in Combat and Under Stress:

- A roll of natural 2 or missing by 10 or more on the attack roll always fails and the attacker's weapon loses 1 point of quality.
- 5th level characters or those with three or more combat skills of Skilled at roll 1d6. All others roll 1d10.

	Special Failure Table:
1	Your clumsily done attack grants the foe +1d6 on their next attack.
2	You lose balance. Dexterity save or fall prone. With save, disadvantage on attacks for 2 rounds.
3	Armor buckle loosens under stress2 AD to minimum of 6. Tighten to restore AD in 1 minute.
4	In a jam. Weapon lodges, wedges, or jams. Ammo is bobbled. No attacks next round.
5	You lose your tempo2 to attack and AD, to minimum of AD 6, for 1d6 rounds.
6	You are slowed by your attempt to take it all in. Disadvantage to initiative for 2 rounds.
7	Lose your footing. Disadvantage attacks until you roll a Dexterity save.
8	Lose your tempo. Disadvantage to attacks and -6 AD, to minimum of 6, for 1d6 rounds.
9	Hard to hold onto your weapon. Roll a Dexterity save or drop your weapon.
10	You fall hard and are prone for at least 1 round. Roll a Strength save once a round to rise.

Effects of Damage:

Death:

Death occurs at negative Constitution + Character Level.

Staggered:

When a creature's hit points drop to half or below, they gain the Staggered status, and displays obvious signs of physical trauma. The Staggered condition is useful as an indicator that an opponent is seriously injured (and similarly, the GM can quickly inquire which PCs are Staggered to gauge how a combat is going).

The GM may start apply disadvantage to certain rolls as indicated.

Negative Hit Points:

Each time a character suffers damage resulting in negative hit points, roll on the Fatal Injury Table. This table is sprinkled with injuries that may take days or months to heal. At zero HP's and each time a character takes damage at negative hit points, roll save vs Constitution to remain conscious. Remember, once a character is unconscious or down and out:

- They are down and out. Fall flat, prone or wherever they collapse.
- They can't take actions, move, speak, and are unaware of their surroundings.

- They drop whatever their holding.
- The character automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves.
- Attack rolls against the character have advantage.
- Any attack that hits the character rolls on the Fatal Injury Table if the attacker is within 5 feet of the character.
- An armed attacker within 5 feet of the character can spend the round killing the character.

Fatal Injury Table Modifiers:

Combat:

Combat Damage: Defender rolls 2d6 + [1 if large to giant sized or 2 if larger] + [1 for wearing heavy helmet] + [1 for shield] + [armor: 3 plate or 1 metal armor] and - [the wound penalty values from any prior wounds] - [1 for each perk level that the attacking weapon has.].

Falling:

Falling Damage: Defender rolls 2d6 + [1 if large to giant sized or 2 if larger] and - [the wound penalty values from any prior wounds] - [1 for each 10 ft. fallen].

Falling damage equals 1d6 per 10' fallen. Falling damage variability diminishes with height. 10' - 20' = Roll and keep result 21'-40' Re roll 1's 41'-60' Re roll 1's & 2's

61+' Re roll 1's, 2's & 3's

Magic:

Magic Damage: Defender rolls 2d6 + [1 if large to giant sized or 2 if larger] + [1 for wearing heavy helmet] + [1 for shield] + [armor: 3 plate or 1 metal armor] and - [the wound penalty values from any prior wounds] - [Sorcery perk level].

Recovery from Injuries:

Hit point damage:

- After a meal and a full night's rest, heal lost hit points equal to 1d8 plus their Constitution bonus.
- Resting at a safe haven and enjoying a meal with a full night's rest restores all lost HP.

Wounds & Wound Points:

- Wound penalties are removed when the wound they are derived from heals or 1 point per day, whichever is slower.
- Wound penalties suffered from special failures heal 1 hour after the fight ends.

Divine Favors and Sorcery: It's potential uses for wounds:

Effects:

The world effects characters in many different ways. Effects alter a character's abilities in a many different ways. An effect lasts either until it is changed (being knocked flat is changed by standing up) or for a period of time described by the effect.

If multiple effects are imposed on a character, each can add to the period the effect acts on the character, but the effects don't get intensified. A character either has a condition or doesn't. The following definitions specify what happens to a character while it is subjected to an effect.

Blinded:

- A blinded character can't see and automatically fails any roll that requires sight.
- Attack rolls against the character have advantage. The character's attack rolls have disadvantage.

Dazed:

 The character rolls 1d6 each round of the effect. On a 6 is able to act normally.
 Otherwise they can only move at half speed, take no actions, and has no penalty to AD.

Deafened:

 A deafened character can't hear and automatically fails any roll that requires hearing.

Down and Out:

- They are down and out. Fall flat, prone or wherever they collapse.
- They can't take actions, move, speak, and are unaware of their surroundings.
- They drop whatever their holding.
- The character automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves.
- Attack rolls against the character have advantage.
- Any attack that hits the character rolls on the Fatal Injury Table if the attacker is within 5 feet of the character.
- An armed attacker within 5 feet of the character can spend the round killing the character.

Exhaustion:

 Some environments impose exhaustion effects. For example, starvation, extended cold weather, hot, or very hot climates; can be detrimental to character performance. Exhaustion has ten levels in the game. An effect can give a character one or more levels of exhaustion, as specified in the effect's description.

	Effect
1	Move at 75%
2	Disadvantage to one physical characteristic
3	75% Load
4	Disadvantage to a second physical characteristic
5	Move at 50%
6	Disadvantage to one mental characteristic
7	50% Load
8	Disadvantage to a third physical characteristic
9	Disadvantage to a second mental characteristic
10	Death

- Exhaustion effects from different sources are cumulative.
- Removing exhaustion reduces it's level and reduces the effect. Short term Exhaustion: Roll a Constitution save each turn to regain a level of exhaustion, provided that the character has rested and also ingested some food and drink. Long Term Exhaustion: Use days or weeks for the interval depending on circumstance and resources.

Frightened:

- A frightened character has disadvantage on saves and attacks while what they fear is within line of sight.
- The character can't willingly move closer to the source of its fear.

Invisible:

- An invisible character can't be seen without magic or a non visual sense.
 Invisible character can only be detected if it makes a noise or leaves tracks.
- Attacks against an invisible character have disadvantage. Attacks by an invisible character have advantage.

Prone:

- A prone character is flat on the ground.
- They can crawl.
- The character has disadvantage on all attacks, except crossbows.
- An attack roll against the character has advantage if the attacker is within 5 feet of the character. Otherwise, the attack roll has disadvantage.

Rattled:

• All rolls are rolled with disadvantage.

Staggered:

- When a character's hit points drop to half or below, they gain the Staggered status, and displays obvious signs of physical trauma.
- The GM may start apply disadvantage to certain rolls as indicated.

Stunned:

- A stunned character is incapacitated, can't move, and can barely speak.
- The character automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves.
- Attack rolls against the character have advantage.

Unconscious: See Down & Out.

Light:

Bright: No penalties

Dim: -2 to rolls dependent on sight.

Dark: Disadvantage to rolls dependent on sight.

Object:	Bright out to:	Dim out to:	Duration:
Candle	5'	15'	1d4+2 turns
Lamp, common	20'	40'	10+1d6 turns/pint
Lantern, hooded	30'	60'	18+1d6 turns/pint
Torch	30'	50'	1d4+4 turns
